

Prof Amponsah's Professional Profile-RECLAIM

Prof. Kwaku Darko Amponsah is an Associate Professor of Science Education in the Department of Teacher Education, School of Education and Leadership, University of Ghana, Legon. He holds a PhD in Chemistry Education from the University of South Africa, and both an MPhil in Science Education and a B.Ed (Science) from the University of Cape Coast. He is the immediate past Head of the Department of Teacher Education and former B.Ed Programme Coordinator for the University of Ghana's Affiliated Colleges of Education. His research interests include science education, STEM pedagogy, inquiry-based teaching, conceptual change, and ICT integration in education. He has published extensively in international journals and contributes to curriculum development, postgraduate supervision, and education policy initiatives. In the RECLAIM Project, Prof. Amponsah brings expertise in STEM education, teacher development, and research capacity building within African contexts. He is a member of the University of Ghana Team.